
Title: Ramblings of an Old Man

Author: GreyPawn

I
on whells within my soul. My heart is
burning with crimson
fervor, and my blood
boils at mere mention
of.....
I dare nay say the
name, lest this book be
found and used as
foul blackmail against
me by those of the Skull or their ilk.
Nary in my travels
have I been so
enthralled with a person. To the extend
of enrapture, I'd surmise, but not such joyous alterations in my life as these. I sit here and I think back,
to those whom I have loved. My young
wife, Amazon Queen,
and the fiery romance
we shared..those
distant nights upon
the yacht off the coast of the capital....I was so very young and
foolish then. And
Queen Mab, my AMT
lover...how I detested Ket Tarma for taking her from me, and
making her his wife.
Our times we spent
rolling about in the
forests near the
Lyceum, how she
enchanted me...
And then Ce'Nedra
Willow, my most recent love, how
mystical and desirous
she was, and still is.

A relationship with
that woman, truly can
break a man's heart,
as he is soon to find
out, that dryads such as her, and her
family, tend to sow
their wild oats with
astounding, and
unfortunately,
heartbreaking
frequency...

And thus, this new
love has entered into the life of this aged
and wizzened old man.

One dark and
mysterious. Feh,
even my magics of
deduction and
revealment have yet to
unearth the secrets to
which this one
shields, and this is a
cause of much sorrow
unexpressed around
said person. My mind and mine heart
clash in battle over
this love, and the
onslaught ensues
inside me even when I am in conference with
my beloved Heralds.
How then shall I
quench this thirst,
this desire, this
overwhelming and
irrational urge to
throw myself upon
them, and spend an..

19. 13. Ensuu
GreyPawn Fa'ai